To Whom it May Concern,

We have been using the Cellar Control system for a total of 18 months, we decided to go ahead with the system due to the cost savings in beer wastage, chemicals costs and labour. Although we were told not to proceed with the system by our brewery representative, as yeast would still continue to grow in the beer lines. To date there has been no change in the beer quality and we are saving at least 10 litres of beer plus chemicals every week.

I have been involved with cellar work for nearly 40 years and take great pride in the quality of the beer I offer to customers. Cellar Control is cost effective, saves on labor and chemicals and has no adverse affect on the quality of the beer. There is no yeast build up and the savings in waste of at least a litre per tap per week adds up to quite a bit of money. I have no hesitation in recommending the system
