

To Whom It May Concern,

We were introduced to CellarControl system through EcoClub as an option to reduce beer, chemical and water wastage at our venue, not only reducing our environmental impact but also saving the club time and money.

After making some enquiries, we found existing CellarControl customers raved about how well the system worked, while some industry consultants had mixed opinions. We decided to install the system at one of our venues, as some local clubs in our area had been using the system for some time with good results.

Following a 6 month trial of the system, we were impressed with the results of the system, and decided to roll it out to our other venues. We now have 5 venues using the system, all of which have had considerable savings in beer, chemical, water and labour.

I have no hesitation in recommending the CellarControl system to any venue or EcoClub member.
